HONGKONG, JULY 29TH, 1878.

WE reprint to day from the Hongkong Catholie Register the report of Bishop RAIMONDI on the Roman Catholic educational and charitable institutions of Hongkong. The Bishop and those who labour under him are to-be congratulated on the success they have achieved, particularly in the educational department of their work. However much we may differ from our Roman Catholic friends on certain points of policy; however fanciful we may consider their grievances in reference to the grant-in-aid scheme and other mutters. the amount of good they accomplish by their own unaided endeavours must command the tave (Madagasear) which had been abandoned in admiration of all. As to the extent of the work the Report speaks for itself, and we need not here repeat the numbers of the children who attend the different schools or of those who receive assistance from the several charitable institutions. The establishment bowever, worthy of more than passing notice. The school is as yet in its infancy and the scope of its operations is necessarily small, but a commencement having been made be hoped that the number of those benefited by it will in the course of time be largely augmented, and that boys as well as girls will share in the ulvantages it confers. The lade in charge of the school is, we believe, a trained teacher of the blind who came out from Europe specially to undertake this work. The school is certainly an object deserving of the warmest support, and if its conductors thought lack of assistance in the way of contributions find that the Bishop holds the same views on the industrial education of Portuguese The annual death-rate per 1,000 for the quarter boys as were expressed in these columns a was as follows:-For the whole population, 29.86; short time ago. "The Portuguese community," he says, "is very poor and the number | 30.79. of destitute children from Macao is increasing. We are of opinion that one of the causes of the great distress prevailing amongst the Portuguese at that place is their never having thought of bringing up their youth to and that they had commanded the natives to prosome respectable trade." This is unquestionable. As the Bishop says, "All are not called to be clerks," and it would be meant to be carried on the backs of carries also incressed, and has never before been so high; well if those of the Portuguese here and These guns had not been in use. "They lay at Macao who cannot secure fair openings supplied from England." for their sone in commercial offices: would have them taught some useful trade; which would always ensure to them at: least the means of livelihood. cking out a bare subsistence as occasional clerks and running into debt and living on THE CHRONICLE AND DIRECTORY the charity of their friends when work fails, were much delighted with the entertainment. The Bishop's idea is to add to the Industrial School a department reserved for Europoan boys where they would be taught different trades. This would be a very good commencement, and when a few of the boys so taught had grown up and established themselves in business the ordinary system of apprenticeship would, we think, turn out workmen well fitted to supply the requirements of their various trades. We strongly to those to whom it is addressed:

A Bombay contemporary calls attention for the fact that Capes Guardafui and Ras Hafun the easternmost promontory of Africa, some twenty-five miles distant from the former, are still both unprovided with lighthouses, much to the peril of the pavigator. Even the last catastropae, however, was attended with loss of life, two passengers being drowned in attempting to land. The Times of India may well ask, "How many more vessels and their valuable eargoes and valuable lives will be sacrificed before these Capes are lighted? If this portion of Africa belonged to any civilised Power there would be little difficulty about the matter, but as it is occupied by barbarous Somalis no lighthouses will be erected unless by the maritime Powers. It would, however, be well worth the while of the British Government to undertake the work since British shipping interests are S. WATSON, AND CO., most affected. The Messageries Maritimes Company would also no doubt gladly contribute their quota towards the erection and support of the lighthouses. There ought to be no further delay in the matter, and we trust that the work may be undertaken be-WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DRUGGISTS | fore any fresh disaster occurs to demonstrate the urgent necessity for lighting this dangerous coast.

> ROMAN CATHOLIC EDUCATIONAL AND CHARITABLE ESTABLISH MENTS OF HONGKONG.

The Right Rev. Bishop Raimondi has issued the following report: In our report last year we thought it better t take our Educational and Charitable Establish ments in order, according to their local position : but seeing that by this plan the statements do not show so clearly as usual, we are compelled to return to our old system of grouping them acsording to the purposes of their institution.

We shall, therefore, on the present occasion, divide our report into two parts; the first embracing the whole of the Roman Catholic Educational Establishments in the Colony and the second dealing with the Charitable Institutions. From the different branches both of the Edu. tional and Charitable Establishments, it will clearly appear that our aim is to supply, so far as is in our power, the existing wants of people living in Hongkong. We are convinced that Education ought to be adapted to the wants and circumstances of the places intended to be bonefitted, and that it is simply a waste of money and energy to not upon the principle that what is good for England is also suitable for all other

Our Establishments do not owe their existence to any desire on our part to compette with others. to any other motive than a sense of the duty imposed upon us by our position, to furnish our Catholic Community with suitable means of obtaining education; and from a feeling of compassion towards the poor sufferers whom to aid we are convinced, every one is called upon according to his means. Small as are our Establishments, they are not wanting in variety. Nor is it to be supposed that we formed any plan originally to work upon; our Institutions have sprung up one after another according as the need for them arose. Some of them are, however, rather too small for our requirements, and others are desired, but for want of means we are unable to accomplish our wishes. Big is the beart, but small the purse, We shall

We would here remurk that all the boys who have some from this school have greatly distinguished themselves. There is no doubt that the system of tuition from Europe adopted by the Italian Sisters, is extremely well suited to the canacity of children and gradually developes their intelli-

COMMERCIAL SCHOOLS. 5.—St. Joseph's College is under the direction of the Christian Brothers, whose strength was increased during last year by the addition of two more English Brothers, bringing the Staff of the College up to seven. The zeal of these good and clever teachers in promoting Education has been crowned with complete success. At the end of 1876 the pupils numbered 165, and at he end of 1877 they were 198. The examinations have been very successful; and, what we prize even more, the pupils obtain situations in competition with boys from other Schools. We regard this as the best test of the standard of education imparted and of the soundness of the system adopted by the Christian Brothers. Our aim has been attained. We wanted to provide the Roman Catholies with a good sound education. and it has been openly recognized that that im-

The number of the pupils having increased the Christian Brothers have been obliged to hire house, where they added to the European classes one for Chinese learning English. There are sloven students at present, all Chinese of whom two are reading Theology. Except the smallest, all speak Latin tolerably well and some of them prepare compositions in that language which do them gredit. The pronunciation also in Latin is very good, and certainly far superior by comparison to that used by Chinese generally in speaking English.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL. 10.-The West Point Reformatory for Boys, under the care of the Christian Brothers, has been progressing. The work done at the Establishment has increased, and the boy shave made wonderful progress in printing. Several works in various languages, done very neatly, have issued therefrom. Tailoring is another respectable trade which could be learned with advantage by Portuguese youth. Bookbinding, carpentering, and even shoemaking ought not to be disdained. Far better for these boys to have an honorable trade. than to be going about begging. We think that, by enlarging the Reformatory formance on Tuesday night at a reduced price we could have a Department reserved for the European boys; and we have no doubt the Government would willingly assist us, as up to the present nothing has been done on behalf of the noor Portuguese boys

> GIRLS SCHOOLS. 11. The Schools for European Girls at the Italian Convent, Caino Road, is progressing very satisfactorily. There were at the end of the year 22 boarders, and 115 day scholars, divided into two classes, one English, and one Portuguese. Public examinations were held at the Convent for the 20th August. last year, and proved a complete success. The girls were questioned in various languages, and n an enormous number of different branches of study, including Cosmology and Astronomy and to all questions out to them they never hesisated to roply in the most satisfactory manner. Embroidery and music, both rocal and instrumental, are taught at the Convent in the highest perfection.

Every one attending the examinations at the Italian Convent could not fail to admire the great progress made by the pupils, and the painstaking of the excellent Sisters who teach them. The admiration will be greater when we consider that the attendance of the day scholars was not very regular.

12.—The other School for European girls kept by the same Italian Sisters at Wanchi, has been also successful, the number of pupils enrolled was 42. The attendance in this School was better than that at the Convent in Caine Road. The Education imparted in this School is not so high as that given in Caine Road, but the School is a good elementary one. 13.—A very good private School for English girls has been opened at "L'Asile de la St. En-

The great cities in the mainland of China such as Canton and Fatshan, are singularly free clso from opidemic disease, and there all along the streets and main thoroughfares it has been the practice from time immemorial to build the houses back to back. In Hongkong as your Excellency is aware, land has become extremely valuable, and in order to make it profitable as an investment, it is necessary to take advantage to the atmost of the space at command. Chinese tenants are, as a rule, on the other hand, unable or unwilling to pay high rents for their dwelling rooms, and it is only by so dividing the houses that many families or persons can reside in each division that Chinese property is made profitable and at the same time collency that the principle of providing alley spaces for the purposes of admitting light and air to Chinese residences would most with but little measure of success and would be in ne way appreciated by those whom it is kindly intended to benefit. A ligature was used, but it was applied only about half an hour before the man placed his finger in the flame of the candle. The finger therefore could not have been previously in state of gaugrene. To simplify matters as much as possible, and by way of an experimentum in corpore vili, I desired the man and his friends to bind my finger in the same way. This they very kindly consented to do, and produced a piece of ordinary hempen string for the purpose—the kind ofstring native shoemakers use. The man began by slipping a double "clove-hitch" on to the ring finger of my left hand, and tightened it just below the second joint by pulling on the free ends of the string. At this stage, the priest very politely intimated that he would not pull quite so tight as was done in his case, and he then continued one of the ends of the string spirally round the finger towards the extremity, until he reached a point just below the first joint. The test of insensibility in his case was to put the end of the finger into his mouth and bite it; when he felt no pain the finger was ready to be placed in the flame. When at any time during the process, of incineration he began to have pain, he had the ligature tightened by his friends, and he assured me that in this way he hardly suffered at all from the burning. The application of the ligature I should say, must have been the worst part of the hasiness. The whole burning and the final clipping off of the finger occupied about an hour. The finger is off just below the second joint, and the stump is "granulating" facbly. He has a

IMPERIAL QUARTO. ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PROBUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the

Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivolled. All the new words which the Chinese have to late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive mature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the HE Undersigned having been appointed Chinese and English type correspond in the size Agents for the above Corporation, are of body, thereby effecting a vast securomy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to companiento effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly adquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the SIR HARRY PARKES, British ship, Chapman .following facts are submitted for consideration :---Chalmers' Vecabulary contains about 16,000 SONNTAG, Am. bark, Simmons. EXTRACTS.

Are full of trouble and full of care; To stay at home is best, Weary and homesick and disbressed. They wander east, they wander west, And are haffled and beaten and blown about By the winds of the wilderness of doubt;

To stay at home is boot. Then stay at home, my heart, and rest; The bird is safest in its nest; O'er all that flutter their wings and fly A hawk is hovering in the sky;

To stay at home is lest. Keramos and other Poems, H. W. LONGERLLOW.

WHAT IS LOVE? BY RICHARD CRAWLEY. What is Love? Oh, Lavo's a pleasure. Born of youth and brod of leisure, Like a day of April weather. Storm and sunshine, both together. What is Love? Oh, hove a pain. Cruel looks and cold disdain; Just as oil upon the fire. Make it only burn the higher. Flower-like in the haart it dwells : Bruise it, and it sweeter smells : Nothing having most bestows, And by giving richer grows. Child of whims and longings strange, Clauge it hates, yet lives on change; Like a bird 'tis killed with kindques Ladies, 'tis a sort of blindans; . Whon most a fact, thou most a flotion,

OUR COMING DEMOCRACY. The democracy which is advancing upon us is not that of Athens, in which a multitude of quickwitted idlers supported by slave labour were amused and educated by attending theatres kept up at the public expense, and by taking part, with or without a fee, in the courts of justice and sovereign assemblies of the people. It is not that of rural Switzerland, where all men are equal and acquaintances, and where political prizes are too poor. equipped with the usual contrivances for command.
